

Sampradaya Bhajans

(in English)

Volume-1

Compiled from various books

Edition1 – published 29-Sep-2012

Edition 2 – published 01-Sep-2013

Edition 3 – published 10-Dec-2014

Preface

I was born and brought up in Nurani Village in Palakkad which is very rich in tradition for Bhajans. Gopalakrishna Bhajana Mandali in Nurani has been performing Bhajans at least now for more than half a century and has given birth to so many Bhaagavatars.

While I started referring to various Bhajan books available, I observed that the younger generation is finding it difficult to look through the lyrics as they are either written in Malayalam or in Tamil and they are not in a position to read either languages. This prompted me to start converting the lyrics in English so that the next generation can continue the Bhajan tradition.

Some of the books I referred while writing in English are :
 Bhajan of Gopalakrishna Swami Bhajan Mandali of Nurani
 Mandala Pattu book of Nurani
 Sampradaya Bhajan by PR Shankara Iyer
 Bhajan book by NY Seshadri, New Delhi
 Bhajan book by Kutty mama, Alleppey
 Bhajan compilation by Sri Vishwanatha bhagavathar of Delhi

The book is divided into two volumes :

Volume-1 consists of Thodaya mangalam, Guru keertanams, Ashtapadhi, Tharangams, Pancha padhi, Pooja paddhathi, Dhyaanam and Divya naamam.

Volume-2 consists of Dolotsavam, Radha Kalyanam, Seetha Kalyanam, Meenakshi kalyanam, Poorna pushkala kalyanam, Pavvalimpu seva and Anjaneya utsavam.

I have tried to include all the latest songs which are being sung by various Bhajan Vidwans as on date and is sure that you will enjoy using this book.

As this is only a mere translation of lyrics in English there are no copy rights nor any claim of exclusivity. The intention and attempt is only to spread the Bhajan culture and make more people accessible to the lyrics which will attract them to participate in Bhajans and sing along with the group. As this is not a commercial book, there are only limited copies printed and circulated. If you are in need of more copies or soft copies of the book, you can contact me and I will be glad to fulfill your needs.

My humble Pranams to all Bhajan Vidwans
